

Homely Planet Inter(net) Cultural Radio is a service to highlight the positive aspects of multiculturalism on Northern Ireland through music and cultural education.

Homely Planet's vision is to show how people representing different cultures & religions contribute in a more positive way to the economic and social status of the country when we respect & have a better understanding of each others' diversity.

Did you ever think to ask?

The mystery that can surround cultures can create misunderstanding leading to fear, discrimination and conflict.

Political correctness, fear of been seen as having racial attitudes and misleading information from the media and other sources can create a barrier of communication.

The Connecting Cultures radio program addresses these issues through a very simple idea by giving people the opportunity to ask questions to others from different cultures.

- No political correctness
- No question is stupid
- No knowledge of cultural traditions or beliefs needed

Facilitated by the organisation Connecting Cultures, the format revolves around an informal chat over tea & coffee.

The Q&A session is recorded for radio as you probably will ask the questions the public would want answered.
